December 2024

Dear Colleagues,

The 2025 Scheme for the conferment of the title of Associate Professor: Call for applications

This letter contains important information about the agreed new procedures relevant to this exercise.

Heads of Departments are invited to nominate individuals for the title of Associate Professor (AP), using the criteria in the attached Principles and Instructions.

Heads of department and their departmental committees are asked to consider carefully the requirements of the AP scheme, which will continue to be run as previously, with departmental committees assessing applications and forwarding their nominations to the divisional committee. It is a requirement that an internal panel be convened, and the panel composition should be included as part of the nomination. The attached Application Form and Principles and Instructions have been updated so please ensure that you use the current version.

Heads of Departments are invited to attend the online Divisional Committee meeting on Monday 12 May 2025 and we would ask you all to hold this in your diaries if you wish to attend to hear the panel's discussion for your candidates (in a similar way to the Recognition of Distinction Exercise). The outcomes are expected to be communicated in early June 2025.

Nominations for the title of Associate Professor

Heads of Departments are invited to nominate individuals for the title of AP on the summary basis outlined in the attached Principles and Instructions, and to submit the following information to distinctions@medsci.ox.ac.uk by 12 pm on 10 March 2025:

- a) application form (attached);
- b) a statement by you as Head of Department explaining how the individual's duties are comparable to an academic post-holder;
- c) a reference by you as Head of Department or an appropriate, senior academic from within the Department¹, attesting to the quality of individual's contribution and in particular outlining how each of the stated criteria have been met;

- d) an independent, external assessment obtained by you or, if not you, by the departmental referee, of the individual's research standing. The assessor should have no active collaborations with the individual (no active grants shared, no active collaborative projects and not published together in the last 5 years);
- e) You may also wish to complete and submit the optional departmental ranking form, annexed at B.

Please ensure that the application form and the relevant Principles and Instructions are sent to all researchers who are to be nominated. A PowerPoint slideshow is available - please encourage applicants to view this presentation.

Please note that applicants are now required to indicate whether they have previously applied for the AP title. They are also encouraged to state how they are personally contributing to Equality, Diversity and Inclusion actions in their group and department, to demonstrate the commitment to EDI both in terms of research design, and also in terms of actions around gender, race and broader equality at all levels, including Athena Swan. This may include information on what the applicant is personally doing to further the aim of EDI in their workplace.

Applicants are also invited to disclose circumstances that have had a substantial effect on their research or teaching performance. Such circumstances will be taken into consideration by the divisional committee.

Departments should now convene a panel to consider the applications. The panel should consist of at least one member from each gender and should check and confirm the accuracy of information provided by the applicant. The committee should consider the applications carefully against the criteria outlined in the AP scheme principles. If departments find it helpful to rank their nominees, then they should do so using the optional form (Annexe B).

Please submit all the relevant material to distinctions@medsci.ox.ac.uk by 12:00 on Monday 10 March 2025. Applications are especially welcome from under-represented groups in order to address the under-representation of women and minority ethnic staff among the University's senior academics.

If you have any questions, please contact Gillian Morris or Ingunn Haugen in the Medical Sciences Divisional Office via the distinctions@medsci.ox.ac.uk mailbox.

Yours sincerely

Professor Helen McShane
